

Principles for Lessons

- The lesson targets specific learning goals.
- The lesson is designed around the principle that “less is better.”
- Learning expectations are appropriate to the developmental level of the students.
- Instruction builds on earlier understanding and consciously lays the foundation for specific later understanding.
- Connections among benchmarks are shown in the lesson.
- Learning and teaching methods, described in SFAA Chapter 13, are used.